

Buy a Bigger Toolbox

Presented by Christine Moers

Quality Materials

- Safety Goggles
- Work Gloves
- Nuts and Bolts
- Windows

Safety Goggles

What do you think and feel about this kid?

"Many adults have never given much thought to their philosophy of kids. But if you're trying to help kids with behavioral challenges, you're going to need one, because it's your philosophy of kids that's going to guide your beliefs and your actions in your interactions with them, especially when the going gets tough."

- Dr. Ross Greene

▶ LiveSlides web content

To view
Download the add-in.
liveslides.com/download
Start the presentation.

The slide features a dark background with blue square accents in the corners. In the center, there is a logo consisting of a globe inside a square frame, with another similar frame behind it. Below the logo, the text 'LiveSlides web content' is displayed with a play button icon. Further down, there are instructions on how to view the content, including a link to download an add-in and a prompt to start the presentation.

Work Gloves

Feelings Thermometer

Chill Space

Letting it Be

"They are not mean kids. They are angry drunks. They need us to help them sober up."
- Jim Kling

"All behavior has meaning."
- Billy Kaplan

"Behavior is never random or aimless."
- The Behavior Code

Nuts and Bolts

Great Things
TO Say

“Is this a big deal
or a little deal?”

Instead of saying “no,” try

...

Yes!

Sure!

Windows

"It takes great strength and courage to help your child make changes in his behaviors by changing your own."
- Parenting a Child Who Has Intense Emotions

Steps for In-the-Moment:

1. Wait!
2. Look around.
3. "What is my goal?"
4. "What can I do to calm myself or escape?"

You've Got This!

ChristineParentCoaching.Com

